Introducing My New Website

In case you haven't noticed, I'm introducing my website, which will display the relationship I'd like to begin with you. I'm a writer, a teacher, and a retired pastor. Over the years, I've garnered quite a few stories, anecdotes, bits of wisdom, and insights about the Bible and how God's Word relates to life as we live it in the 21st Century.

The goal of my work now is to enhance the eyes of your faith through what I write. I will employ novels, blog posts, newsletters, and other means of expression to help you see the meaning of Scripture more clearly, deeply, and meaningfully than you have in the past. Please join me in this adventure of faith by signing up to receive this newsletter and going to my website to learn more. CooperStinson.com

Melissa and Me (or M&M)

Following retirement, Melissa and I moved to Tampa, Florida, where we reside with our two dogs, Gertie and Eddie. When we're not volunteering at our church, our main occupation is spoiling our 3 year old granddaughter. We celebrate our 14th anniversary in February. I couldn't live without her. She is the glue that holds my life together.

COOPER'S MISSION

My desire is to help enhance the eyes of your faith through the use of fiction. You could say I have created a novel approach to Scripture. These posts will elaborate on the importance of this approach in unfolding the mysteries and the meanings of Scripture.
